The Democrats in Congress have a boom in unprofitable debate.

It was a fortunate thing to be an Ohio man during Hayes' administration. All such were kindly remembered and handsomely rewarded.

The Legislature should make no appropriation for female dogs for the State hospital this year; and hence at $5 apiece is not a good speculation for the State.

Journemen cabinet-makers are still finding their way to Mentor—some seeking employment and others anxious to dispose of their cabinet material to the President-elect.

Petitions asking for the adoption of the resolution to amend the constitution prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor in this State, are flooding the Legislature.

One week more and Garfield will be counted in. The 9th will be a sorry day for the Democratic statesmen in Congress who have talked so long and loud on the electoral count resolution.

The Senate committee at Washington has agreed to fix the rate of interest on the new funding bonds at 3½ per cent, and this has raised the indignation of the Democratic members of the House, who say they will not vote for the bill. The 3½ rate is low enough, and financial wisdom would dictate the propriety of passing the bill with that rate of interest. But whoever heard of the Democrats paying any attention to what wisdom might dictate or common sense suggest?

One day last week a mother over fifty years old was sentenced to the Missouri penitentiary for robbing the mails and waylaying travelers and robbing them of money and other valuables. When she reached the penitentiary at Jefferson City, last Friday, she found four of her sons within the prison walls—all having been sent there for robbery and larceny. Three of the sons were sentenced for ten years, and one for seven years. The mother enters for a term of ten years. There are five sons in the family, and the one out of prison is a prominent minister in the Southwest.

The New York Tribune says that General Bragg, of this State, "forgets that he is a Democrat when he remembers that he once was a Union soldier. He shocked his party the other day by comparing a blue-blooded Virginian to Benedict Arnold. The comparison was accurate, for the Virginian, after serving his country gallantly as a naval officer, deserted his flag and went over to the rebels. His heirs now want his back pay, and the Democrats, except General Bragg, think they ought to have it. This is not the first time the Wisconsin member has been guilty of political heresy. He ought to understand that the Democratic doctrine concerning the war is that a rebel was as good a patriot as a loyal man, if not a little better."

A State tax on our public schools is urged by State Superintendent Whitford, and other prominent educators in the State for the reason that it would equalize the system of taxation for the support of the schools, and would also increase the efficiency of the schools. The disparity in the amount of taxes raised in the different cities of the State for the support of the schools can be seen by taking seven of the largest cities in the State. While La Crosse has the smallest amount of taxable property among the seven cities—Fond du Lac, Racine, Janesville, Madison, Milwaukee, and Oshkosh—it raises twice as much school money for each child as does Fond du Lac, one-third more than Janesville and Racine, and one-half more than Milwaukee and Oshkosh. The amount of tax for each child in the seven cities is as follows:

Fond du Lac	$2.76
Janesville	5.12
Racine	6.97
La Crosse	3.81
Madison	4.36
Milwaukee	4.26
Oshkosh	5.48

The cost of public schools in this and in other States is an item of considerable interest and will not fail to strike Wisconsin tax-payers, with a good deal of force. For instance, in 1878, the cost per capita of school children in eleven States was as follows:

Maine	$4.50
Wisconsin	4.52
Minnesota	5.81
Michigan	6.95
Illinois	7.15
Iowa	7.45
Indiana	7.94
New York	8.05
Ohio	6.80
Connecticut	10.71
Massachusetts	13.25

These figures show that Wisconsin is far behind in the work of education, and for this reason the Sprague bill has been introduced in the Assembly.

It has been reported that the silent man at Mentor has at last said something which intimates that Ohio will not have a place in the cabinet of the incoming administration. Some prominent Ohioans called on the President-elect to press Governor Foster for a cabinet position, when the latter took the liberty of saying: "Now, don't you think that Ohio has already had too many appointments and too many honors? This State has had the Presidency for four years, and now it has that high office for four years more. It also has the chief justice and the associate justice on the bench of the supreme court, the general and lieutenant general of the army, and the secretary of the treasury. These are very prominent positions, and there has been the usual feeling on the subject by the press and politicians of other States. Now, in view of the real success of the Republican party all through the North, a result which was brought about not only by the votes of the people, but also by the personal services and means of their leaders, don't you think the most graceful thing for an Ohio President to do is to leave Ohio out of the cabinet altogether?"

SNOW BLOCKADE.

All Roads Leading West From Milwaukee Blocked.

MILWAUKEE, February 1.—Every railroad leading west from Milwaukee is blocked with snow to-day to such an extent that none of the trains are expected to arrive before to-morrow. The snow began falling heavily here about 10 o'clock Monday night, and by daylight this morning five inches had been added to the bed already upon the earth. It was one of the most rapid falls ever witnessed. There was enough wind blowing to drift sidewalks, streets, and railway tracks, and the early train from La Crosse was stopped in the vicinity of Watertown. All the divisions of the St. Paul line—the Wisconsin Central, the Fond du Lac Air Line, and the Lake Shore—suffered in a similar manner. The Chicago trains are running, and the tracks between the two cities will probably be kept open, although the mails to-day were delayed. Every snow-plow on the different roads is working to open the way for the delayed trains from the North and West. The snow has ceased to fall, and the weather is once more pleasant, so that the disarrangement on the railways can hardly be experienced after to-night.

WISCONSIN ODD FELLOWS.

The Grand Encampment in a Flourishing Condition.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 1.—The thirty-third annual session of the R. W. Grand Encampment of Odd Fellows of Wisconsin, was convened in Milwaukee this afternoon. There was a very large representation present from all parts of the State. The afternoon was devoted to reports. The Secretary's report shows that the order in Wisconsin is in a very flourishing condition. The Treasurer's report indicates that the finances of the Grand Encampment were never better.

THE KENTUCKY HORROR.

Wiley Embrey and Six of His Children Burned to Death.

LOUISVILLE, Feb. 1.—The Courier-Journal has the following special from Spring Lick, Kentucky: Wiley Embrey, an old and respected farmer in Butler county, and six of his children, were burned to death on Friday night, the wife and eldest daughter escaping with-out injury. The particulars of the burning are as follows: On the night referred to Embrey and his family retired between 7 and 8 o'clock, and at 10 o'clock the wife and husband were awakened by the roaring of a fire, which they discovered was up-stairs, and in a room where six of their children were sleeping.

Embrey rushed to the stair door, opened it, and started up-stairs, when he was met by the flames issuing from above, and fell prostrate on the floor.

His wife and their oldest daughter, who was sleeping in the same room, realizing the peril of their own lives, rushed out of doors, leaving behind them the old man and six children to perish in the house, the roof of which was then falling in.

The old lady and her daughter began screaming at the top of their voices, which soon attracted several of their neighbors to the horrifying scene of disaster, but they arrived too late to render any assistance whatever.

Language is wholly inadequate to describe the wails and moans of the grief-stricken mother and daughter, who stood by gazing on all that was dear to them on earth perishing in the angry flames. The fire was not extinguished until every thing was consumed.

Among the debris particles of the bodies of the father and children were found, but not in sufficient quantities to be identified.

Wiley Embrey was a farmer, and, by dint of hard work and the strictest economy, managed to save up enough to live easy and comfortably for the remainder of his life. The whole country is nearly paralyzed over the horrible death of Mr. Embrey and his six children.

FROM LINCOLN TO HAYES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The following incident is related by a correspondent in today's Evening Star:

In 1864 Mr. Lincoln met one day, in the autumn, a bare-footed, half-starved negro child in one of the parks. He stopped and talked a little while with her, as the Master before him was wont to do with the poor and wretched. He heard her story, and, finding she was one of the many waifs cast from Virginia, into the city, gave her good advice and caution.

Then he asked her if she knew how to buy things, and gave her two gold dollars wherewith to purchase a pair of shoes. When the child failed to see him as he lay in state; but she had always hoped to see the inside of the house where he lived. She is now a serving woman in the house of a Northern lady living in this city, and last Saturday, by her employer's advice, she went to see the reception—the kindly-faced lady who on that day receives "the people"—and got a glimpse of the rooms through which Mr. Lincoln used to walk. Dressed tidily in a clean, her clean white cotton apron glistening with the polish of the iron, she went to the white house. At the door she was stopped by the attending flunky, who demanded her business. She told him she had come to see Mrs. Hayes, the reception, and the house where Mr. Lincoln used to live. The A. F. informed her that colored people were not allowed to enter that door; that she should go around to the south door, and wait until it was opened for black folks. The poor woman went, waited nearly two hours, and then went home, chilled, mortified, and conscious of having been cheated, as she said in the text of her soul, by a "poor, miserable fellow, who probably never had any position before, and didn't know how to 'preciate it.'"

SCOTT INDICTED.

TOLEDO, Feb. 1.—At Napoleon, O., to-day, the grand jury found an indictment against ex-Governor R. K. Scott for murder in the second degree, in killing Warren G. Drury on Christmas morning last. Scott will be taken from the Defiance jail to Napoleon to-morrow and admitted to bail. A number of the wealthy citizens of Napoleon are ready to go on his bond as soon as the amount of bail is fixed.

AGRICULTURAL.

MADISON, Feb. 1.—The State Agricultural and Horticultural societies were in session at the capitol to-day. The agricultural society was employed in reviewing the premium lists and considering a proposition submitted by Mrs. Bascom, wife of the president of the university and other ladies to the effect that no beer be sold in the fair grounds during fair week. There was considerable discussion over the matter but was thought best not to press it to a vote until it was decided that the wish of the ladies would be defeated.

The State Horticultural society had an interesting meeting and a very large quantity of fruit was on exhibition.

BERNHARDT.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 1.—Bernhardt's presentation of "Cassiope" to-night brought out a packed house, and there was decidedly increased demonstrations of enthusiasm over her acting. At the end of the fourth act she was called before the curtain six times.

MILTON.

—Goodrich sold his cheese this week to a Chicago party at twelve cents per pound.

—The Seventh Day Baptist Sabbath school of Southern Wisconsin hold an institute here on the 7th, 8th and 9th inst. It is to be conducted by Rev. O. W. Whitford, of Watworth, and the programme will be interesting.

TEMPERANCE DOINGS.

On Wednesday, Jan. 19, '81, the Milton Temperance Association had its birth. The want of such a society has long been sadly needed in this town, ever since the Ladies' Temperance Union ceased to hold meetings. A great many people in the town of Milton have ideas in regard to temperance, which they are not ashamed of, and consequently not afraid to express in public their sentiments.

The following officers were elected by the people present: President, Ezra Goodrich; Vice President, Rev. W. T. Miller; Secretary, A. F. Butts; Treasurer, J. C. Rogers. As it was quite late before the officers were elected the meeting was adjourned for one week. It was thought best to hold the adjourned meeting in the Congregational church at Milton. The meeting at Milton was addressed by Mr. Sayre, from the town of Porter, Prof. Boyle, and short remarks were made by others.

Mr. Sayre is an entertaining speaker and a strong worker. Those who heard him were well pleased, and went away with a deep determination to carry out the temperance idea. Prof. Boyle had his remarks reduced to writing. On this account they were less interesting but more instructive. They were to the point, and showed that he had a comprehensive idea of what he was talking about. At this meeting of the Association forty-eight persons became members.

The next meeting of the Milton Temperance Association will be held at the S. D. B. church, Milton Junction, Wednesday evening, February 9, 1881.

COOKSVILLE.

—The new Congregational minister, Rev. Mr. Barrett, who has been engaged for Evansville and this place, is a young man who seems to be full of life and puts practical thought into all his sermons.

—Good Templars Hall was well filled last Saturday evening, and looked as though there was a temperance revival in earnest.

—The concert entertainment last Friday evening by our Glee Club and the drama with orchestra music by the Potter band, was pronounced to be the best entertainment given in Cooksville for years.

—There has been some talk of its being repeated in Fulton church, at an early date, and if it be so, we assure the good people that they will be well entertained.

—The Good Templars' Lodge voted at their last meeting to subscribe for 25 copies of "The Home Guard," to go into all hands.

—Unity assembly at the house of B. S. Hoxie, Friday evening, this week, the 14th inst.

—State Superintendent W. C. Whitford, will speak here on Sunday, the 13th, at 11 o'clock a. m., and at 7 o'clock in the evening. As Mr. Whitford used to preach here some years ago, we expect on the occasion of this visit to see the church filled to an overflow.

—Arrangements have been made with Rev. G. W. Lawrence so that he will speak here once in four weeks until further notice. His next appointment will be Sunday, February 20th, at 11 o'clock a. m.

—B. S. Hoxie started for Madison last Monday, to spend most of the week attending the joint session of the State Agricultural and Horticultural societies, as well as to see what our "solons" are up to.

—It is asserted that our mill stream in "Bad Fish," keeps up the best supply of water of any stream in the county. It is fed by warm springs not far off, and the consequences are two mills run every day and keep well up with their work.

—Let every farmer who can possibly attend the Convention of the Northern Dairyman's Association, to be held in Janesville, do so for they are the ones to be benefited.

—Prof. Rockwood, of Whitewater Normal School, will give his popular lecture, "The New Man" in this place in the near future. Posters will announce the time, so that all can have that rare opportunity of hearing that popular lecturer.

MILTON JUNCTION.

—On Thursday last Mr. Joseph Kidder of this village, celebrated his 82d birthday in company with his wife, who is 73, by paying his annual visit to his old homestead, the Kidder farm, three miles west of this village, and now the home of their oldest son, Mr. Henry Kidder, who took his aged parents thither in a sleigh. Uncle Kidder is quite a character in his way. He has for many years been a close student of astronomy, and perhaps few men in the ordinary walks of life are better posted in the mysteries of astronomy than he. In 1812, when the British under Commodore Parker, stormed Fort McHenry at Baltimore, over which the stars and stripes still flutter, he was in the early dawn furnished the inspiration that gave us our national song "The Star Spangled Banner." Mr. Kidder was then a news boy in the office of the Baltimore American, and saw the bombardment. He came to Wisconsin when Chicago was but a village, pitching his camp at an out where at present are the mighty palaces of a great commercial center, and thus the life of this aged man spans two important and distinct eras in our country's history.

—Clark Bros. shipped two car loads of stock from this point on Monday.

—The genial countenance and burly form of our old railroad agent, M. J. Holmes, Esq., appeared upon our streets again on Friday last for the first time since entering upon his duties in Chicago early last summer. Everybody seemed glad to see him judging from the cordial greeting he received wherever he went. He returned to Chicago again on Monday.

—On Thursday night last the quartet concert and ladies' aid society came off as advertised at the new church, and was a success in all save a somewhat lighter attendance than the society had reason to expect or the merits of the concert warranted. The excellence of the singing of the Milton quartet is becoming too well known in these parts to need comment, but being our first opportunity to hear them, we can truly say that all who have not heard them have missed a rare treat. While each part excelled in itself we think it does no injustice to the others to say that the soprano, in the person of Miss Hakes, won especial favor with the audience, and deservedly so, since for grace, sweetness and power of song, her equal has yet to appear on our midst, and we hope she will be given an opportunity again soon to exert her pleasing power over a larger and hence more appreciative audience.

—On Tuesday evening, February 8th, the friends of Rev. Mr. Loomis will give him a donation visit at the Seventh Day Baptist church, at 7 o'clock. A supper will be prepared by the ladies in the lecture room, for which tickets will be sold at 40 cents each, or 75 cents a couple. Everybody is invited.

—Friday morning last the thermometers in this village indicated 24 degrees below zero, which seemed quite natural again after rusticiating for some days in the neighborhood of zero.

—Rev. Mr. Warden went to Chicago, Friday, where he preached the following day in the mission chapel to the S. D. B. of that city and vicinity. The Rev. Mr. Loomis, of Milton, by request of President Williams, who was sick and unable to preach, occupied Elder Warden's pulpit here, with a very interesting discourse, in which he described something of his travels in Italy, and his visit to the Waldensians, a persecuted sect living in one of the villages of the Alps.

—On Saturday night next, at Morgan's hall, the MacCreedy comedy troupe will give another of their inimitable entertainments to the people of Milton Junction, and vicinity, on the early days of the Clement Brothers no troupe has appeared among us with more flattering encomium from the press than has been accorded the MacCreedys, wherever they have appeared. They will appear for one night only.

—The storm of Monday night succeeded in blocking the trains, so that those due here in the night were several hours late on both roads.

BRAVE MISS ZANE.

How a Beautiful Girl Checkmated Simon Girty.

Simon Girty was the wickedest white man of the early period of the history of the Ohio valley. In 1777, Fort Henry, which was situated on the Ohio river near Wheeling, and garrisoned by 42 men, was suddenly attacked by Girty with a force of 500 Indians. He succeeded in ambushing and slaughtering 30 of the garrison, leaving but 12 to defend the fort. Among the women was young Elizabeth Zane, a beautiful girl of 17. The 12 soldiers, commanded by Colonel Shepard, were good marksmen, and, knowing that surrender meant death for their wives and children, as well as for themselves, they resolved to fight to the last. It was not long before the small stock of powder in the fort was almost exhausted. In despair the Colonel called his brave little band together, and told them that at a house some 60 yards outside the fort, which their enemies had not dared approach, there was a keg of gunpowder. Whoever should try to bring it into the fort would be in peril of his life from the Indians. He called for volunteers, and 3 or 4 men responded, but only one could be spared. While they were generously disputing among themselves for the perilous duty, Elizabeth Zane approached the Colonel and begged that she might be allowed to for the powder. Her request was promptly refused, but she persisted, and it was finally agreed that she should make the first trial. When all was ready the gate opened and Elizabeth walked rapidly across the open space toward the house where the powder was stored. Those in the fort could plainly see that the eyes of the Indians were upon her, but either from curiosity or mercy they allowed her to pass safely and enter the house. Her friends drew a breath of relief, and watching even more anxiously for her appearance, when she came on soon bearing the powder in a table cloth, and around her waist. By this time the Indians suspected her burden, and in a moment more, as she was hastening toward the fort, they sent after her a shower of bullets and arrows. They all, however, whizzed by her harmlessly, and she sped on with her treasure through the deadly missiles, until at last she bore it in triumph inside the gate. By the aid of the powder and the enthusiastic courage which Elizabeth's self-sacrifice inspired, the little garrison was enabled to hold out until relief came to them. And so things of the noble act of a young girl saved the lives of all within the fort, and vanquished its 500 dusky assailants. The Zane family became well-known in Southern Ohio, and gave their name to the beautiful city of Zanesville.

Horses Feet for Fast Work.

Rational shoeing is one of the most important of keeping horses sound on their legs and feet. Their shoes should be plain and carefully fitted so that the weight is equally distributed. Upturned heels and toe tips are evils which should be reduced to the smallest possible dimensions, and are generally more abused in Scotland than in England. The shoes should be removed before they are worn down or displaced, which will occur within three weeks in hard worked horses much used on the roads. To preserve the foot sound and serviceable, the drawing knife and rasp should be used much less frequently and freely than they are. The sole needs no paring, excepting on the narrow surface which has been protected by the shoe. Still less should the bars and heels be cut down, as they often are, fatally weakening the foot. Nor on any pretense should the frog be ruthlessly cut or trimmed. No knife should, on any pretext, ever touch it. The rasping of the crust, which most blacksmiths give as the finishing polish to their job, is also inadmissible. It removes the external oily protecting covering, makes the hoof dry and brittle, and, as it grows down, renders it less stout and tough for the firm holding of the nails. These protecting surfaces are all needed to preserve the more delicate internal parts of the foot from bruising, injury and jar. Their removal, although common, is irrational and injurious. If left alone, the superfluous scales of the walls of the hoof, of the sole and frog gradually shell off in much the same manner as the scurf from the human skin. Their removal is, however, insisted upon by ignorant prejudice and fashion; while to make good the loss, artificial substitutes are applied. The smartly-rasped hoof is smeared with beeswax and oil; the thinned sole has to be protected with leather or felt pads; and the natural growth having been removed, a fresh crop of horn is attempted to be stimulated by clay and salt, or other applications. The soft elastic frog, excited and shrunk, becomes dry and diseased, and deprived of its proper use for supporting weight and preventing slipping.
Feet properly managed as to shoeing need no stopping. Cold water and a brush is the dressing they require. Exposure to the air and an occasional washing will secure the healthy growth of sound, tough horn better than any stopping; but the horn thus grown must not be allowed to be mercilessly cut away every time the unfortunate animal enters the forge. Horse owners, if they are to preserve their horses' feet strong and sound, should themselves see that the shoeing smith does not pursue his destructive removal of the external protecting textures of the foot. - North British Agriculturist.

William M. Davies exhibits a curiosity in the shape of two plums grown on a pear tree which has not been grafted.

Last summer the pear tree bore about a dozen pears. This year it bore none, but its boughs were intermingled with the boughs of a plum tree, which bore considerable fruit. The bough which bore the plums mentioned had the leaves of a pear tree, but the plums were genuine, and somewhat smaller than the ordinary Bleeker. - Utica N. Y. Herald.
- How to Cover the Sick. - Never use anything but light blankets to cover the sick. The heavy, impervious counterpane is bad, for the reason that it keeps the exhalations from the pores of the sick person, while the blanket allows them to pass through. Weak persons are invariably distressed by a great weight of bed-clothes, which often prevents their getting any sound sleep whatever.
- Professor Von Langenbeck, the celebrated German surgeon, saved the life of the Emperor when wounded by an assassin and is consequently adored by the Berliners. He attained his seventieth year the other day, and was over-whelmed with congratulations and addresses of congratulation from all parts of the Empire, and by decorations from foreign sovereigns.
- MARK TWAIN says there is something very fascinating about science--it gives you such wholesale returns of conjecture for such trifling investments of fact.
"WHAT MUST I DO," asked a man and conceited man of a friend who knew him well, "to get a picture of the one I love most?" "Sit for your own portrait," was the reply.
A TALL MAN having rallied his friend on the shortness of his legs, the friend replied: "My legs reach the ground; what more can yours do?"

The Leading American Newspaper
The New York Tribune for 1881
THE LARGEST CIRCULATION AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.
During the past year THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE reached the largest circulation it ever attained, with the single exception of a short period in the first London edition. It is the most widely distributed, and more widely distributed by any other newspaper in the United States. This fact may be taken as the verdict of the American People on THE TRIBUNE's political force, its fidelity to sound principles, and its merits as a newspaper.
For 1881, THE TRIBUNE will try to decrease still further the cost of the labor for and it confidently expects the incoming Administration to promote a free and fair tariff, sound and solid money, protection of Home Industry, judicious liberality in Internal Improvements, and a civil Service conducted on business principles, on the theory of elevating, not of ignoring or degrading politics.
The well-known special features of THE TRIBUNE will be suitably maintained. Its Agricultural Department will remain the fullest and best. The Household and the Young Folks Departments, the Literary, Scientific and Religious features, the standard market reports, will all be kept up, and, as opportunity offers, extended.

—A. E. Morse has added to the decorations of the front of Smith & Jackson's block, by putting out an attractive sign, calling attention to the fact that his abstract, real estate and loan office is in that block.

—Owing to the terribly drifted condition of the roads, the readings promised the Johnstown people, by Mrs. R. F. Hayes, will be postponed until Thursday of next week, which will doubtless be satisfactory all around.

—E. P. Wells, who is quite a horse trainer, and is connected with Will Davis' livery stable, lately purchased in Illinois, for John Austin, a fine pair of English coach horses, coming four years old, and weighing 2,700 pounds. They are good ones.

—A convention of the superintendents and overseers of the poor is to be held in Madison Wednesday and Thursday of next week. Superintendent Pickett, of this county, is among those announced to join in a discussion of the management of poor farms.

—The funeral services of the late Mrs. James Croft were held yesterday afternoon in the First Methodist church, and were largely attended. Rev. Mr. Wells officiated, and many friends joined in paying the meek tribute of respect to the worthy woman thus taken away.

—Thomas Cole was at his first day's work in F. G. Stevens & Co.'s cigar box factory, this forenoon, when his thumb came unexpectedly in contact with the buzz saw, ripping it, the thumb, not the saw, clear to the bone, and making an ugly wound, which Dr. Judd was called on to put in shape.

—Governor Smith has re-appointed C. L. Valentine as member of the Fish Commission, which is a further guarantee that the commission will continue to do its allotted work in a faithful and successful manner. Mr. Valentine is a really valuable member, being well posted and taking a personal interest.

—President J. W. Stearns, of the White-water Normal school, will deliver a lecture under the auspices of the M. I. C. at All Souls' church, on Friday evening, of this week. Subject—"An Argentine City." Prof. Stearns speaks from personal knowledge of the people and their ways, having resided several years at the foot of the Andes. Admission 15 cents.

—Ellen Conley, of Chicago, has been engaged to superintend the knitting department of the Lawrence & Atwood factory, in place of Denway, who left last night for Manitowish. Miss Conley is said to be a woman of ample experience and of worthy qualities to fill the position well, and is expected to commence work here next Monday. The knitting machines are now at work on cotton goods instead of wool.

—Mr. and Mrs. David Balch, parents of J. H. Balch, of this city, recently celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary in Onondaga county, New York. They were married there January 20, 1831, by Rev. many more years of life bid fair to be met.

—It is said that E. B. Hemstreet, the druggist, has rented the entire building next to his present store, and now occupied by O. F. Meyer & Co., as a grocery store, and that he will move his stock into it in May next. The first floor will be fitted up as a model drug store, and the second floor as an artists' emporium. The change will give Mr. Hemstreet more room, which he knows well how to use to the advantage of his customers.

—George T. Prichard has secured the sole agency for Rock county of the Buckley force pumps, which have proved themselves wherever tried to be so superior for all sorts of wells and cisterns. These pumps can be seen at his gas-fitting shop, in the Myers' house block, where he has also a model of the Iron Turbine wind mill, a decidedly ingenious and durable one. Those who want pumps or wind-mills should examine those at Prichard's.

—Peter Schmitz, formerly of Harmony, and now of Grand View, Lyons county, Minn., writes to us renewing his subscription to the Gazette. He says the weather has been steadily cold, and though the thermometer has not been lower than 30 degrees below, yet it has not been above freezing point in two months. The worst feature to the winter there has been the frequent blizzards, which toss the snow around in bad drifts. In regard to what he says it has been mostly No. 1, but quantity could have been bettered, and it has sold from 65 to 85 cents per bushel.

—The funeral services of the late Thomas Hemingway were held yesterday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Lawrence officiating, and a large number of friends and neighbors were in attendance. Joseph Hemingway, of Louisville, a son of the deceased, was present, as also was a daughter, Mrs. Goodbrand, and her husband, of Chicago, besides the family and relatives here. Appropriate music for the services was given by Mrs. Conrad, Mrs. E. P. Doty, and the Clark brothers. The family desire the Gazette to express their thanks to those who thus aided in the services, and to the friends who in so many ways showed their kindly sympathy toward them in their affliction.

—In accordance with the call issued in the Gazette, a number of our citizens gathered at the Myers house parlors last evening to make the necessary preliminary arrangements for a banquet in connection with the annual meeting of the Northwestern Dairyman's Association, to be held here Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.
